

Dear Habitat Homeowner Applicant,

Congratulations on taking the first step toward becoming a partner with Habitat for Humanity. We look forward to working alongside you as you pursue your goal of homeownership. To be eligible for affordable homeownership through Central Berkshire Habitat for Humanity, your household must fulfill the following requirements:

Income Eligibility: To make sure we work with individuals and families who have the means to pay an affordable mortgage but are not already candidates for a conventional mortgage we assess income eligibility. Total household income must be between 40% and 70% of the median income for the area as determined by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Our primary concern is that all homebuyer partners have the ability to take on the financial responsibility of a mortgage, therefore the applicant must also have an acceptable credit history.

Need for Better Housing: To help build decent, safe, affordable housing we work with individuals and families whose current housing is inadequate or substandard. If you are unsure if your home qualifies as “inadequate”, please discuss this with Habitat staff. Your home may qualify if:

- There is insufficient space for family size
- The home is unsafe, in disrepair, or infested
- The home is a temporary housing solution

Willingness to Partner: Habitat for Humanity works in partnership with potential homeowners and we ask that you be ready and available to work alongside Habitat volunteers and staff. Potential homeowners must fulfill between 400 and 600 hours of sweat equity, or volunteer service, and participate in financial education and first-time homeownership classes. A Habitat home is hard work and requires a willingness to invest in the responsibilities of homeownership.

What's next? Here is what you need to do to move this process forward:
